ONLY ONE LIFE

Damage From Burning of Twelve Huge Oil Reservoirs May Mount to Half Million Dollars.

McCamey, Texas, January 27.—(AP) Relieved that what had been feared was a holocaust had taken relatively slight toll of life, the 6,000 inhabitants of this two-year-old town took a holiday tonight by the light of a column of flame surrounded by a mile high wall of smoke from 12 burning oil tanks of the Humble Oil and Refining company.

The tanks were ignited this afternoon by an explosion. Out of a hundred men working on the property only one, Fred Hendricks, chemist, was known to have been killed, although property damage may reach half a million dollars. The blast, which started in Tank No. 15, under process of being steam-cleaned, rocked buildings half a mile away, and spread successively to eleven other tanks, ranging in capacity from 500 to 3,000 barrels, most of which were burning long after dark.

Several Workmen Injured.
Several workers were reported injured when thrown to the ground by the force of the explosion, but in most cases the injuries were of minor nature.

McCamey is situated in a semi-arid country of nearly flat contour and the big blaze was visible for 20 miles. Its giant glare illuminated every corner of the raw oil town. Practically the whole population stood about on the streets or drifted back and forth toward the center of attraction, although close approach was impossible.

From a levee which confined the blaze to the ignited tanks it was possible to see anything but a billow of yellow and orange flame shooting upward into a sea of boiling black, with an occasional glimpse of the red metal of a twisted 3,000 barrel tank.

Victim on Top of Tank.

Hendricks, the man known to have been killed, was on top of Tank No. 15 when it exploded, having just lifted a hatch to make a test. His body was hurled some 30 feet into the air and fell back into the flames. It had not been recovered tonight.

The McCamey volunteer fire department received the praise of the townspeople for preventing the flames from spreading and causing heavy damage to the town.

The only theory advanced to account for the explosion was that a spark had been struck in the engine or closing of the test hole by Hendricks, igniting the gas in the tank.

FRENCH ACADEMY
FINDS NEW VACCINE
FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Paris, January 27.—(United News.) The French Academy of Medicine is publishing a report to be broadcast to doctors over the world announcing a vaccine which has been proven by tests to eliminate entirely the danger of death by tuberculosis among children even those born of tubercular parents and living in the worst slums. This vaccine named the "baccille Calmette-Guérin" after its discoverers, and referred to in medical circles as BCG has been used in inoculating 52,772, of whom 5,749 lived with tubercular families. During the first year of the test the death rate among these children was 0.9 per cent, and during the second year of the tests 0.2 per cent. In the third year there was not a death from tuberculosis among the inoculated children.

Before the tests were made, tuberculosis was the gravest danger facing newborn French children.

Safe Arrival at Bogota,

LANDED ON TIME
AS CROWD CHEERS

Nation Relieved as Word of Pilot's Safety After Perilous Flight Across Mountain Peaks.

Bogota, Colombia, January 27.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh promised Bogota last night that he would arrive at 3 o'clock today—and made good.

He came from Cartagena, some 400 miles away, over high mountains enshrouded in clouds, past dangerous ravines and through unknown country—one of the most daring flights he has yet made on his present tour. No other plane had ever crossed the ranges to the valley in which the Colombian capital lies—and Lindbergh was on time.

Just as the hands of the clock pointed to the hour of three, the airman swept down on the aviation field as if to examine the crowds.

The Spirit of St. Louis. The journey from Cartagena had been completed in six hours, one minute.

The airman landed here after considerable apprehension had been expressed in the United States over his safety, due to the disruption of cable service between Bogota and America for more than two hours.

There was tremendous enthusiasm among the spectators as he descended from heights far above the mountains and made a perfect landing in the big basin, of which Bogota is a part. About 15,000 persons had gathered, including high government officials and members of the diplomatic corps, to greet the flier at Madrid field, which is about 20 miles from the capital.

The moment the plane came to a standstill it was encircled by a detachment from the aviation school, which protected it from the crowds. As Lindbergh stepped from his plane every one seemed to want to shake his hand, and he was cheered repeatedly during the formal official welcome which was extended by the minister of war.

Seen At Great Height.
The Spirit of St. Louis was discovered first at a great height, flying low, as if to examine the crowds.

A few minutes later he appeared over Bogota, which he circled a number of times. It was thought that he was awaiting the announced landing hour—a graceful gesture—so that the 3 o'clock arrivals at the field might not be disappointed. In his circuit beyond the city he went over Mount Monserrate, nearby, and passed over several villages.

From the landing field he proceeded to the capital, and his entry was wonderful. The Colombians according him an ovation which few other men have received today. "Instead of prosperity a financial depression exists today," he said.

This condition has resulted from a perversion by the republicans of constructive legislation enacted by the last democratic administration," Mr. Hitecock added. "During the seven years of so-called republican prosperity, 3,000 banks in the United States have failed."

Grand Island, Neb., January 27.—(AP)—"Republican prosperity is a myth," former United States Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Omaha, told an annual democratic get-together here today.

Washington, January 27.—(AP)—A message from the director of the Near East relief, under a Baghdad date, has been received here reading:

"Grave anxiety is entertained for the safety of Miss Alice Carr, Near East relief nurse, of McRae, Ga., who is lost in the desert between Baghdad and Mosul while en route from Smyrna."

Miss Carr is a graduate of Johns Hopkins training school. She carried $10,000 for Assyrian relief. It is feared she may have been waylaid by marauding tribesmen or bandits.

"Relief officials have appealed to the British authorities to help trace Miss Carr, who left Baghdad a week ago by automobile."

MISS CARR IS SISTER OF WOMAN IN M'RAE.

McRae, Ga., January 27.—(Special)—Miss Alice Carr, believed lost in the desert between Baghdad and Mosul, is a sister of Mrs. G. H. Harris, of McRae. Miss Carr is about 45 years old.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Carr, of Yellow Springs, Ohio. She was graduated at Antioch college in Ohio and then from John Hopkins at Baltimore.

During the war she served in the Red Cross in France. She returned to America at the close of the war and visited her sister in McRae, which is described by relatives as her residence.

However, she has not been in McRae since 1920, when she spent a short time before leaving for Asia Minor as a Red Cross relief nurse. She has since been in the service of the Red Cross in various capacities.

Only two weeks ago Mrs. G. H. Harris, a sister, received a letter from Miss Carr advising her of the fact that she had been selected to make an important trip to Smyrna—the journey upon which she was engaged when she disappeared. The letter stated that she was somewhat reluctant about making the trip.

However, Miss Carr wrote, officials had insisted upon her undertaking the journey for the reason that she was the only person available who could be entrusted with so important a mission. In this letter she mentioned the fact that she intended to return to the United States within a short time to visit her relatives. The letter was dated December 21.

Siren's Lure Too Great,
Hartley Sticks to Sea

Washington, January 27.—(United News.)—Commodore Herbert Hartley, who resigned Tuesday as master of the United States liner Leviathan, with the statement that he would become associated with the Pepperell Manufacturing company, a Boston cotton concern, announced today he had joined instead the Trans-Oceanic Corporation, which is planning a line of four-day trans-Atlantic steamships.

Hartley's announcement was made through the Trans-Oceanic Corporation, which issued a statement quoting him as declaring he had decided to remain in the shipping business, and that the Pepperell company had released him from his agreement to join their Atlanta, Ga., office.

"The dream of my life has come true at last," Hartley's statement said. "This means a declaration of our maritime independence. If I had been offered any other position connected with the sea I would not have accepted it."

"I see this as the beginning of our return to first importance on the seas," Hartley said he would assume personal direction of recruiting and training the crews of the proposed vessels, and that he would supervise their trials when completed.

The Trans-Oceanic Corporation is now seeking a loan of more than $200,000 from the United States shipping board to finance part of the project.

Rejects Coolidge Plan for Commission to Investi-

Disaster.

Washington, January 27.—(AP)—The senate, going counter to the recommendation of President Coolidge and previous house action, insisted today that a congressional committee should investigate the sinking of the submarine, S-4.

It did so by modifying the house amendment for an inquiry to provide for appointment of a group of senators and representatives to go into the disaster itself, but left in the proposal the provision for a commission to be named by the president, with the scope of its inquiry limited, however, to a study of safety appliances and salvage methods.

Coolidge Not Satisfied.
The senate's action brought a quick reaction from the white house. There it was stated on Coolidge's behalf, that despite the stand taken by a majority of the senators, he believed that an executive commission such as he had proposed to congress, should go into the question. This was also the attitude of the house, which recently passed the resolution modified today by the senate.

White house comment of the senate's action was limited to the reiteration of the president's view that he favored an executive commission and indicated that the president's view was given as to the course Coolidge would pursue if authorized to name a group whose investigating powers were to be curtailed.

DIVERS RESUME WORK ON SUNKEN SUB.

Providence, Mass., January 27.—(United News.)—Use of an air-lifted apparatus enabled divers to resume work on the sunken submarine S-4 today for the first time in more than a fortnight.

By use of a recently perfected device seven divers were able to descend and work in what is believed the coldest water in which men ever have been able to work. No diver was able to work for more than 25 minutes because of the temperature of the water which was 22 degrees. Those who went down were: Thomas Eadie, William Carr, Thomas Campbell, Frank Criller, Joseph Eiben, "Tug" Wilson and John Kelley.

GEORGIA COLLEGE BODY MEETS HERE

Having opened Friday night with an informal dinner at the Henry Grady hotel, the twelfth annual convention of the Association of Georgia Colleges will meet in double sessions today.

Dr. Spright Dowell, newly elected president of Mercer university, was principal speaker at the Friday dinner, addressing the gathering on various important problems of collegiate educational methods. About 40 representatives of Georgia colleges attended, including delegates from two junior colleges, the Junior college, of Augusta, and Andrew college, of Cuthbert.

This morning at 9:30, the convention will convene at the Henry Grady hotel for a session devoted to a discussion or selection and admission of students. The afternoon meeting, which will open at 2 o'clock, will be featured by election of officers for the year and the annual report of Dr. J. S. Stewart, of the faculty of the University of Georgia, showing the records of the various colleges and high schools on the number of first year men dropped last year.

METHODIST LAY LEADERS CLOSE SESSIONS HERE

Mid-year council of lay leaders of the conferences of the Methodist church, south and east of the Mississippi river, in two-day session at the Henry Grady hotel, closed Friday with discussions relating to Christian stewardship, payment of benevolences and the organization of men through the Wesleyan Brotherhood as features.

Plans for the Methodist laymen's conference to be held at Lake Junaluska, N. C., August 19-26, also were made. It was brought out that approximately 3,000 Methodist laymen are expected to assemble for the conference of information and inspiration. The council adjourned at noon and Friday afternoon delegates visited Emory university as the guests of Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of the institution.

BAHAMA JUDGE FINDS 'RUM PIRATE' GUILTY

Nassau, Bahama Island, January 27.
(United News.)—Charles H. "Pop" Nesle, picturesque American adventurer, was convicted in the Bahamas supreme court today of receiving stolen goods, and was sentenced to one year's hard labor, to date from his arrest last September.

"Pop" was acquitted of a second charge of larceny. Both charges grew out of a Miami, Fla., liquor shipment which a United States rum-chaser captured in British waters. It was alleged that "Pop" piloted the rum-chaser and then piloted the cargo, and at first he was threatened with a trial for piracy on the high seas that might have entailed the death sentence.

PEACHTREE SALE TOTALS $264,600

Property valued at $264,600 and involving several parcels in important commercial locations changed hands in purchase by Dr. Floyd W. McRae, of the vacant lot on the northwest corner of Peachtree and Long streets, just north of the large Medical Arts office building, according to reports Friday. The transaction, which is the largest to be announced in some time, was negotiated by Perry Blair, Inc., as agent.
Dr. McRae purchased the Peachtree street lot from the Realty Holding company as a permanent investment, and, according to reports, plans to improve it with a commercial structure as soon as suitable tenants can be obtained. Definite plans for the project are not known. The vacant parcel is valued at $150,000, the purchase giving as part consideration, in addition to cash and assumption of loans, his equity in five pieces of property.

The corner lot purchased by Dr.
McRae has a frontage of 106 feet on Peachtree street and extends back to Alexander street, along which it fronts 126 1-2 feet. It is separated from the Medical Arts building by a newly-paved street, known as Long street, and has a frontage of 270 feet on this street.

The five parcels given in exchange by Dr. McRae consist of the northwest corner of West Peachtree and Pine streets, being a vacant lot measuring 48 1-2 feet on West Peachtree and 130 feet on Pine and subject to mortgages of $25,000; a two-story brick building at 501-3 Whitehall street, measuring 60 by 90 feet and subject to mortgages of $12,500; the southeast corner of Ponce de Leon avenue and Marshall street, being a vacant lot with 153 feet frontage on Ponce de Leon avenue and 90 feet on Marshall street, subject to $12,000 in mortgages; a residential lot on Club drive, measuring 180 by 250 feet and subject to $3,500 in mortgages, and 50 acres in north Fulton county,
at the intersection of Montgomery Perry and Howell's Ferry roads, subject to $16,600 in mortgages.

CHICAGO BOMBINGS OPEN CRIME DRIVE

Chicago, January 27.—(AP)—Crime and the gangsters who perpetrate most of it are in for the greatest drive Michael Hughes, commissioner of police, ever heard of in his life—and that encompasses several decades of police work.

"Gangsters and racketeers must go,"
was the ultimatum he issued today.
"They can no longer live in Chicago."
The "showdown" was the aftermath of the bombing of the homes of Charles C. Fitzsimmons, city controller, and Dr. William H. Reid, both staunch political associates of Mayor William Hale Thompson.

Mayor Thompson himself was credited with leadership in the investigation of the bombings. The police said that arrests of the guilty were in sight and that 100 men might be involved and that they would begin to populate the police stations before the end of the week.

Commissioner Hughes offered a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bombers, and added that promotion awaited the policeman making the arrests.

2 MEN RESCUED FROM CABIN BOAT TEN MILES AT SEA

Wildwood, N. J., January 27.— (United News.)—Two fishermen of North Wildwood were rescued by coast guardsmen today after being marooned fourteen hours in a cabin ten miles at sea.

The men, Jesse R. Shivers, 31, and John Wist, 30, were huddled over a nearly empty oil stove when found.
The cruiser was towed into Cape May.
Elmer Houltz, fire chief of North Wildwood, instigated the search when he became alarmed at the failure of the men to return.

Highways Linking U.S. and Mexico Proposed to House

Washington, January 27.—(AP)—A plan for the establishment of a system of international highways linking the United States with Mexico and South America as a means of promoting amicable relations between the nations, was made today before the roads committee by Charles M. Babcock, Minnesota state highway commissioner and president of the American Roadbuilders' association.

He expressed approval of a resolution by Chairman Dowell, of Iowa, which would create a commission to investigate the building of highways linking up all countries of the western hemisphere.
The financing of toll bridges by southern states was explained by Justin Matthews, Arkansas state highway commissioner. He said that the states has trouble in selling the bonds to finance toll bridges because of the provision that the structures be made free within 25 years. Chairman Dowell expressed his view of a system of international highways linking
the United States with Mexico and South America as a means of promoting amicable relations between the nations, was made today before the roads committee by Charles M. Babcock, Minnesota state highway commissioner and president of the American Roadbuilders' association.

BOY IN SPOTLIGHT AT TRIAL OF HILL

Ottawa, Ill., January 27.—(AP)—An eleven-year-old boy, Norman Meyer, wearing a big purple and yellow sweater, decorated with a Boy Scout medal, held the interest of a crowded courtroom here today in the trial of Harry Hill charged with the slaying of his mother.

The youth testified that he did chores at the Hill home, and that during the afternoon of August 4 he stayed at the Hill home where Harry Hill met him and gave him 50 cents.
Hill also gave instructions to take a look at a fire in the rear of the house, the boy said. Later Hill left the home. The state contends Mrs. Hill was slain August 4 or 5. A patrolman also testified that he warned Hill a few days later about starting fires near the home.

PROSECUTION GAINS POINT POLICE END MEET HELD TO CELEBRATE KAISER'S BIRTHDAY

Berlin, January 27.—(United News.)
A German fascist meeting held in connection with the sixtieth birthday today of William Keer, Seattle detective who questioned Hill at the time of his arrest in the Washington city.
The defense contended brutal methods were used upon Hill in making his admissions. The court, however, barred any testimony by the officer regarding any force or to remarks made about Mrs. Hill's will, which awarded Harry $50,000.

ALDERMAN SENTENCED TO HANG ON MAY 11

Miami, Fla., January 27.—Horace Alderman, convicted of killing two coast guardsmen on the high seas off Fort Lauderdale, was sentenced by Judge Henry D. Clayton in United States district court here this morning to be hanged in the Broward county jail at Fort Lauderdale on May 11.

OFFICIAL GUARDED AS SLAYER HANGS

New Orleans, La., January 27.—(AP) Police protection was ordered for Attorney General Percy Saint late today to check possibilities of violence as a means of reprisal against the hanging of Byron Dunn at Lake Charles.

Information reaching police authorities said D. O. Dunn, a brother of the condemned man, had made threats against the attorney general if Byron was allowed to hang. Dunn was reported to have visited the attorney general's office several times during the day, but created no disturbance.
D. O. Dunn was indicted with his brothers in connection with the case, and is at liberty under $1,500 bond.
The case against him has never been pressed for trial. Robert Dunn, the third brother, is under life sentence.

ONE HANGED, TWO WIN INDEFINITE STAYS

Lake Charles, La., January 27.— (AP)—Only one of three men who were to hang in Louisiana today went to his death as scheduled, the other two being granted an indefinite stay of execution through a decision of Attorney General Percy Saint that an appeal filed in their behalf in the United States circuit court of appeals superseceded any action the state might have ordered taken.

The decision was announced 40 minutes before Milton Brasseaux and Joe Genn, the condemned men, were to mount the gallows to hang for the murder in 1926 of J. J. Breville, a Deridder taxi driver. The hangings were to take place at Deridder, in the adjoining parish of Beauregard. All arrangements had been completed for the execution.

MASKED BANDITS KIDNAP BANKER. LOOT BANK VAULT

Chicago, January 27.—(AP)—Presuming much the same tactics as a group of men who recently obtained $80,000 from the Ravenswood National bank, six men spent from midnight until 7:30 o'clock this morning looting 71 safety deposit boxes in the Joseph Fekete & Son Mortgage bank of $5-000 in cash and jewelry, and many documents.

Fekete and his wife were asleep in their residence above the bank when the sextette broke in. Mrs. Fekete was beaten, gagged and bound to a bed.
Fekete was escorted to the bank and forced to open the vault.

Turks To Try Minister.

Ankara, Turkey, January 27.—(AP)—

ditioning of the former German ship

Yavuz Sultan Selim.

Georgia's 'Master Farmers' To Be Honor Guests Tonight

Twelve men who stand peerless as symbols of success in the arduous task of wresting prosperity from nature and their native soil, will be feted tonight amid all the splendor and tribute of their recently attained honor as Georgia's "master farmers."

This acclaim will be given when the 12 master farmers assemble as guests of honor at the elaborate banquet to be held in the ballroom of the Atlanta Biltmore hotel at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

Selected from 80 Farmers.

Selected from nearly four-score nominees for the high award, these twelve men were given the coveted tribute as a result of their years of struggle with the forces of nature. They are: J. W. Algood, Cobb county; S. R. Brown, Turner county; C. P. Bullock, Meriwether county; J. E. Davidson, Peach county; C. H. Ellis, Wayne county; W. J. Mathis, Terrell county; W. E. Morgan, Haralson county; J. R. McMurray, Richmond county; F. C. Newton, Morgan county; C. E. Oliver, Chatham county; G. O'Kelly, Clark county; W. H. Smith, Bulloch county.

Hundreds of men prominent in the agricultural history and political life of Georgia, as well as others interested in business farming, and farm subjects have been invited to attend the banquet. The assemblage will be entirely of a laudatory nature, with many impromptu addresses during its course.

During the course of the celebration the distinguished guests will be awarded certificates of merit from the State College of Agriculture, and also gold medals of honor from the Progressive Farmer and Farm Woman.

The designation of "master farmer" was awarded to each of the twelve men during the second day's session of the 21st annual farmers' week and marketing conference, held at the State College of Agriculture last Tuesday.

Here's Your Chance To Win $2,000.00

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S "COW" FIGURE GAME

$2,000.00 First Prize $1,000.00 Second Prize—$500.00 Third Prize

Twenty-five Cash Prizes in All—Amounting to $4,515.00

THIS CONTEST CLOSES WEDNESDAY, FEB. 8

These big cash prizes are going to be given away to the lucky winners, and no one has a better chance than you if you will only make the proper effort. The object of the game is to see how much you can make the "COW" weigh by filling inside of the border representing the cow with figures "9."

How Much
Can You Make the
"COW" WEIGH?

THAT'S THE PROBLEM!

Try Your Hand at It by Writing the Figure "9" as Many Times as You Can Inside the Border-line of the "Cow."

Begin now on the game by clipping out the "cow" picture and start with lead pencil to filling in with the figure "9." You will find it absorbing fun, and every "9" that you write in the "cow" figure takes you further on your way to the big cash prizes that are to be given.

Be sure that the "9's" do not touch each other, nor touch the border of the cow. You may have additional copies of the "cow" picture by writing to the Cow Contest Dept., enclosing a stamped return envelope. The extra copies, however, will be on the same grade of paper as this is printed on.

You have a chance to earn $35.00, $250.00, $1,000.00 or $2,000.00, as explained and shown in the Prize List.

How to Win $2,000.00

It is not necessary to send a subscription, but by qualifying your entry into "How much can you make the cow weigh" game with one or two subscriptions, you can increase the amount of the prize money that you will receive if you are a winner. For instance, the first prize is $35.00, but if winner of first prize has qualified with one six months subscription, the prize will be $250.00 instead of $35.00. If qualified with one year's subscription the prize will be $1,000.00 instead of $250.00, or if qualified with two annual subscriptions the prize would be $2,000.00 instead of $1,000.00, and so on with proportional increases throughout the entire prize list. In all there are 25 prizes, as shown in this announcement.

$35.00 Will be awarded to the winner of first prize (the person having the largest sum total in the cow picture) if no subscription is sent to the daily and Sunday Constitution.

$250.00 Instead of $35.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one six months subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution with $5.00 remittance is sent, new or renewal; second prize $200.00, third prize $100.00, etc. (See second column in prize list.)

$1,000.00 Instead of $250.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize provided one annual subscription, new or renewal, to the daily and Sunday Constitution with $10.00 remittance is sent, new or renewal; second prize $800.00, third prize $400.00, etc. (See third column in prize list.)

Sunday Constitution is sent with $9.50 remittance, second prize $200.00; third prize $250.00, etc. (See third column in prize list.)

$2,000.00 Instead of $1,000.00 will be awarded to the winner of first prize, provided two yearly subscriptions to the daily and Sunday Constitution are sent, one of which must be new, at $9.50 each. Total remittance $19.00, second prize $1,600.00, third prize $500.00, etc. (See last column in prize list.) Be sure to write your qualifying subscription on a separate sheet of paper from the "Cow" picture, giving your name and address as well as the name and address of each subscriber. Remittance should be sent by money order, personal check or bank check. Currency should always be registered.

Observe These General Rules of the Contest!

- All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states may take part in this contest, except employees of The Atlanta Constitution and members of their families.
- Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the three amounts designated in the prize list accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one award. Once registered, a solution cannot be changed.
- The first prize will be awarded to the person having the greatest sum total, which is to be determined by the sum of the figures "9" written in the space designated inside of the border forming the picture representing the cow, to the second greatest total second prize, third greatest total third prize, etc.
- Any lead pencil may be used. All writing or drawing pens of artists or engineers or their like are barred, as ink cannot be used on this grade of paper without blurring. The figures "9" need not be perfect in shape, but must be complete. Write as small as you like with any ordinary lead pencil of standard make—just so each "9" is fully shaped. Figures cannot touch each other, nor are they permitted to touch any part of the borderline forming the shape of the cow.
- Copperplate type, shorthand reproductions or reductions are barred, also duplicates of the original. Every "9" must actually be made by hand with any ordinary lead pencil of standard make and must be discernible to the naked eye, meaning clear and distinct to a person of average good eyesight or equivalent. The natural eye by those who do not wear glasses, and ordinary reading glasses by those who wear glasses only given allowance in filling in the figure "9." A "9" with either straight or curved tail is permissible.
- Every contestant must give the correct total of the weight of the cow in the answer submitted by him. Incorrect statement disqualifies the solution. This weight of course is the sum total of the "9's" he has written in the figure representing the cow. This is important! Your name and complete address must be plainly written on margin of sheet on which your answer is given, or blank printed for that purpose, or a blank of your own selection attached hereto.
- In case of ties, while there is hardly a chance in 10,000 of a tie, as many awards will be reserved as there are people tied. Before any awards are awarded for less correct solutions, another puzzle will be submitted to those tied on the same order of this one, except a smaller "cow" picture, after which should ties still result each contestant will receive the full amount of the prize tied for.
- Only one prize will be awarded to a person, household, or group of persons. Any person or household, or group of persons submitting duplicate entries are barred.
- The decision of The Atlanta Constitution must be accepted as final and conclusive in all matters, and participants by sending in their answers agree to accept the decision of the contest manager of The Atlanta Constitution as conclusive and final.
- The Atlanta Constitution reserves the right to reject at any time any contestant whom it believes has violated the rules. The solution of the winner of first prize will be reproduced in The Constitution, together with the published result which will be published as soon as possible after the closing date of the contest.
- All answers will receive the same consideration, regardless as to whether or not a subscription for the daily and Sunday Constitution be sent in.
- The contest is open to new and old subscribers alike. The regular subscription rate of $5.00 for six months subscription or $9.50 for 12 months subscription to the daily and Sunday Constitution will prevail. Daily only subscriptions or Tri-Weekly subscriptions not acceptable in this contest. Full amount of subscription must be remitted in every instance. When sent through an agent, postmaster, or otherwise, no commission can be deducted. In column 2 of prize list, six months' subscription there referred to can be either new or renewal; column

$7,500

Travel and Pedestrian Accident Insurance issued to annual subscribers and immediate members of a subscriber's family of ages from 15 to 70 at $1.25 per policy each per year.

This fee is in addition to the subscription price. Applicants should give name in full, state age and occupation, and when a beneficiary is given be sure to state full Christian name and relationship to the insured.

Closing Date

The "How Much Can You Make the Cow Weigh" Game Closes
WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 8TH, 1928

No Solution Can Be Changed After It Has Once Been Registered.

If you find that you can make the cow weigh more than the first solution, which you sent, the only thing you can do is to send in another solution, which must be qualified independent of the first solution submitted. In other words, the qualification of one solution already submitted cannot be transferred to a later solution.

Important Facts to Remember!
While the amount you pay with the solution does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win one of the awards, as the value of these awards is determined by the value of the winners' pay. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.
Address your solution, remittance, etc., to the Contest Manager, Daily Circulation Dept., The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

How many times can you write by hand, using a lead pencil, the figure "9" inside the border forming the cow outline? The sum total of the number of the "9's" that you put in the cow picture will represent your answer or what you give as the weight of the cow. For example twenty "9's" will be 180 pounds; one hundred "9's" would be 900 pounds, etc. Can you write in one hundred "9's," two hundred, or how many? The person having the greatest number of "9's," that is, the largest sum total, will win first prize, second largest second prize, etc.

GET OUT YOUR LEAD PENCIL NOW!

If you make the proper effort and fully qualify your solution it may mean $2,000.00 to you.

The rule was passed to avoid a recurrence of the Jack Sharkey-Tom Heaney post-nuptial. Joe Cook, manager of Joe Sekey, Dayton, Ohio, light-heavyweight, filed a challenge for a title bout with Tommie Loughran, 175-pound champion. The commission ruled that Loughran has six months of good grace in which to sign for a bout. Loughran is away on a South American cruise.

Joe Glick, Brooklyn junior lightweight, was reinstated effective February 6. He was suspended for fouling Ted Morgan, junior lightweight champion, in the fourteenth round of their title bout.

Exclusive Hotel Fits Out Private Gym for Tunney in His Suite.

BY JACK FARRELL.
Miami Beach, Fla., January 27.—The vacation and play days of Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, are about at an end. This was indicated by the arrival here of Lou Fink, his trainer, from New York. Lou checked in at the Roney Plaza, Tunney's temporary habitat, with several bulging suitcases loaded right up to the straps with boxing gloves, sweat shirts and other light training paraphernalia.

While Tunney hasn't decided when he will start the training grind that he hopes will put him on fighting edge for those two bouts which he expects to fight this summer under the auspices of Tex Rickard, he will, in all probability, get going within the next few days.

Jack Britton, former world's welterweight champion, who is teaching the swells who patronize the very exclusive Roman outdoor swimming pool across the street from Tunney's hotel, how to put up their shoulders, he probably will be pressed into service as Gene's chief sparring partner during the preliminary stages of the champion's conditioning campaign.

Trainer Ring.
Britton has a ring pitched at ground level on the palm-shaded lawn adjacent to the swimming pool and it is here, most likely, that Tunney will do his daily chores. It is surrounded by a four-foot fence, which, of course, will be topped by a towering canvas if Gene insists on strict privacy.

It also was reported that the management of the Roney Plaza was fitting up a gymnasium in Tunney's private suite on the seventh floor overlooking the Atlantic, where he could train in seclusion and far away from the prying, critical eyes of a mob of the idly curious.

Such a scheme might not work out advantageously for the hotel, whose guests are not just the kind of people who would feel at ease riding up and down elevators with a lot of tin-eared sparring partners. But then, again, the freight elevators are always accessible.

Lottie Moore Schoemmel, a champion woman distance swimmer, is swimming instructor where Britton is working.

Reports that William Harrison Dempsey planned to return to New York and announce to start a long siege of training under the supervision of Leo P. Flynn, with a view to attempting another of his annual comebacks, is news to Tex.

"Dempsey has been sending out a lot of reports as to what he intends to do, but there is nothing to them," said the promoter. "He really has made no definite plans as yet, and when he does, I will be the first to know it."

No wires have been exchanged between the promoter and Jack for the past month.

Izaak Walton League Organizes in Sparta

Sparta, Ga., January 27.—(Special.)—County Game Warden Carl Fleming, who is also deputy state warden and field worker for the department, has enrolled many names already in the Izaak Walton league, which was suggested here last week. Local hunters and fishermen are joining the league and expect to lease the large David Dickson pond and considerable acreage around same to be used as a hunting and fishing preserve. As soon as the required number of members are secured a charter will be presented from the headquarters of the league, in Chicago, and by spring it is thought that all plans will be worked out and much pleasure received by the members in this connection. The pond is one of the largest in this section and is plentifully stocked with fish.

Cedartown Wins.
Cedartown, January 27.—(Special.)—The Cedartown High school basketball team defeated the Summerville High school team on the local court, 37 to 24. The game was thrilling all the way through and was the best game that the Cedartown team has played this season.

Work of Hilburn, Wyatt and Coffee was outstanding. Captain Pullen played a fine game for the losers and the defensive work of Housley was outstanding. Each team has won one game from the other and the rubber game will be played in Cedartown at an early date.

Buchanan Takes Title.
Buchanan, Ga., January 27.—(Special.)—Buchanan Athletic club continued its winning streak by annexing an exciting game of basketball from the Rome Night Hawks at the Y court in Rome by a score of 41 to 29. For the first five minutes of play the Hawks were leading 19 to 1, but Buchanan struck its stride and began piling up counters so fast that the Romans were taken completely off their feet. The Hawks' news acknowledged that this game virtually decided the amateur championship of north Georgia.

Tech Seeking Even Break With Georgia

Tornado Squad Shows Marked Improvement in Practice During Week.

BY ROGER PAGE.
With spirit running high and a determination to even the count, the Yellow Jacket basketball squad of 10 players, Coach Roy Munderoff, and Manager White leave this morning at 11:30 o'clock for Athens, where they will encounter the University of Georgia quintet for the second time this season.

In the first game between these two institutions, the Bulldogs, after trailing the Jackets at the end of the half, staged a wonderful comeback, defeating Tech by the score of 33 to 30. This was two weeks ago.

Since this last game with the Bulldogs, however, the Jackets have been greatly improving. The encounters with both Clemson and Tennessee bear this out. Not only has the team shown a keener eye for the basket, but Coach Munderoff has, since the game with the Bulldogs, developed a wonderful passing system which is somewhat baffling as well as startling.

A New System.

If the teachings of Coach Munderoff are carried out in the game tonight, less dribbling will be seen. Dribbling, to a certain extent, slows the progress in going down the floor. An intricate and deceptive passing system will take place instead, and speed along with this will be relied upon to avenge the count of the last engagement.

The teamwork for which the whole Tech squad has been complimented by many who have been following the games, has steadily improved. Golden has continued his excellent work as a guard in the scrimmages the past week, and much is depending on him in the affair with the Bulldogs tonight. Besides, Coach Munderoff has picked up, he is developing a keen eye for the rim.

Hecke, Harris and Player have been sure shots with the ball after it is worked down the floor. Putting aside the long spectacular shots from the middle of the court, these men have been working closer to the basket from which position points are easily made by any one of the three.

"Red" Williamson, the young "find" of a few weeks ago, is still troubled with a bad cold, but is expected to play.

Freshmen Going.

Coach Bill Fincher will take his first-year men to attack the Bulldogs through a fast workout here tonight in their last practice before they meet the Tech quintet Saturday evening at Woodruff hall. Basket shooting occupied most of the time, and the Georgians certainly had their eyes trained on the net work. Florence, Drew, Kren and Palmer were putting them in from all angles of the court.

The crowds had already begun to pour in for the week-end's gala festivities incident to the game Saturday night. It is expected that one of the largest crowds to ever witness a basketball game in Athens will attend the game. A dance given by the Pan-Hellenic council Friday night and on Saturday night are the main attractions aside from the game for the week-end. Practically every fraternity on the University of Georgia campus is giving a week-end house party, which has attracted many visitors of both sexes.

Georgia Favored.
The Georgia five has already won one game from the Yellow Jackets, downing them in Atlanta two weeks ago by a score of 33 to 30, after they had trailed for the first half. The Red and Black quintet lost its first game when they went under a 25-to-29 score with the North Carolina Tar Heels on top. The following night Duke university made it two losses in a row for the Bulldogs when they won out after two extra periods of play.

Nevertheless, the Bulldogs' season record is much superior to that of the average quintet and they are favored to win Saturday night's engagement, playing on their home court, Woodruff hall, considered one of the best and newest basketball playgrounds in the south. The seating capacity, although large, is to be strained tomorrow night, according to all present indications.

Georgia Favored.

The Georgia five has already won one game from the Yellow Jackets, downing them in Atlanta two weeks ago by a score of 33 to 30, after they had trailed for the first half. The Red and Black quintet lost its first game when they went under a 25-to-29 score with the North Carolina Tar Heels on top. The following night Duke university made it two losses in a row for the Bulldogs when they won out after two extra periods of play.

Nevertheless, the Bulldogs' season record is much superior to that of the average quintet and they are favored to win Saturday night's engagement, playing on their home court, Woodruff hall, considered one of the best and newest basketball playgrounds in the south. The seating capacity, although large, is to be strained tomorrow night, according to all present indications.

Spiller's $25,000 Offer Is Refused By Tyrus Cobb

Augusta, Ga., January 27.—(P)—Tyrus Cobb on his return home today from a hunting trip announced that he would decline a contract tendered by the Atlanta club of the Southern association, offering $25,000 for his services this year.

The Georgia Peach said he couldn't say whether or not he would play this season. "I want to quit, but I feel that I am at the stage where I should retire, despite the fact that there are still some more years of baseball in me," he said, concluding an interview.

Further questioning regarding the chance of his donning a uniform this year, the Georgia Peach said, "I am undecided right now but if the right proposition comes along I might be tempted." He said, however, that he would not play with a minor league club. Cobb did say that if it came to playing with the minors he would rather play with Atlanta than any other minor league team he knew of.

TRIS SPEAKER OFFERED JOB BY STALLINGS

Montreal, January 27.—(P)—George Stallings, manager of the Montreal Royals in the International leagues, has discussed with Tris Speaker the possibility of the crack outfielder coming to Montreal to "ground him agreeable," he announced today.

Stallings, once the "miracle man" of the Boston Braves, later the Boston Red Sox, and now the Montreal Royals, has been in direct negotiations with Speaker, a star last season with the Washington Senators and former manager of the Cleveland Indians.

"I have not given up hope of getting Speaker," he said, although he thought that both Boston Red Sox and the New York Giants were in the field for the Philadelphia Athletics, also has expressed a desire to sign Speaker if satisfactory salary terms could be agreed upon.

This was released by Washington which Speaker is expected to leave for the Montreal Royals.

"Nothing to it," said Stallings. THE END OF THE ROAD

Twin Luminaries of the Outfield — Tris and Ty — Near the Gates of "Old-Time City"

BY NORMAN E. BROWN, Staff Writer for Central Press and The Constitution.

Cleveland, Ohio, January 27.—Are Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, outstanding stars of the baseball world to most of the fans, to step out of baseball quietly and inauspiciously through the simple expedient of failing to sign up with major league clubs for the 1928 campaign? So it would seem.

Cobb, as this is written, is a free agent, unconditionally released by the Athletics at the close of last season. Speaker has been unconditionally released by the Washington Senators upon his refusal to accept a cut in salary.

This would indicate that Clark Griffith feels that Speaker's days as a player are numbered, at least as a big leaguer. Neither player is of the type who would care to end his playing days slipping further into oblivion with minor league organizations. If either does connect with a minor league outfit it probably will be in the capacity of an owner—not as a manager or player.

Both have money in plenty—but it is questionable as to whether they would care to disturb present investments to go into baseball on a heavy scale, knowing well the vagaries of the sport.

Both played a full season after the occurrences of a year ago, which dragged their names before the public in an uncomplimentary light. Both sought that year in the majors to vindicate themselves in the eyes of the fans. Receptions in their honor, the daily plaudits of the crowds and the healing ointments of time have erased the memory of the unpleasant episode.

If they step out of the game now they carry with them the glamor that surrounded them before the Leonard bombshell. Their days are numbered as active players. Both find ailing legs and the effort to keep in condition their biggest handicaps.

If they pass through the gates to "Old-Time City" at this time they join Walter Johnson and Ban H. Johnson, two other great figures of the American league. Their going helps mark the end of the "old generation" which grew up with the American league. They join the immortals. What incentive is there, then, for them to continue?

Cal Coolidge To Be Asked To Settle Row

Winans Refuses To Attend Conference; Officials on the Run.

Washington, January 27.—(P)—President Coolidge will be asked tomorrow to use his influence toward healing the breach in Army-Navy football relations.

Representatives Britten, Illinois, and Fish, of New York, who have been active in a so-far-unsuccessful effort to get the athletic authorities of Annapolis and West Point into agreement, will call at the white house and urge the president to take a hand in the case.

Britten, the ranking republican member of the house naval committee, and Fish, a one-time all-American player, both feel that it would be unfortunate if the annual service classic were not played next fall.

Not Final.
The refusal of Major General Winans, commandant at West Point, to accept a proposal made by the two congressmen to confer in New York, February 1, with Rear Admiral Nulton, superintendent of the Naval academy in another effort to arrange for a game next fall, should not be taken as final.

While no comment was forthcoming tonight from the two house members concerning their visit it was said at the white house late today that President Coolidge had only the most casual interest in the matter and that all that he knew about the controversy was what he had read in the newspapers.

It was stated specifically that Mr. Coolidge had taken no hand toward endeavoring to have a service game played next fall.

Hahn and Peltzer May Match Steps In Special Race

New York, January 27.—(P)—United News.—Dr. Otto Peltzer, German middle distance star and holder of the world half-mile record, and Lloyd Hahn, American's greatest middle distance star, may meet in a special half-mile race in the Millrose A. A. games in Madison Square Garden next Thursday night.

Hahn is entered in the Rodman Wanamaker mile, the feature event, but has advised Millrose officials that he is willing to withdraw and compete against Dr. Peltzer.

The German star's appearance is contingent upon compliance with the requests made by the A. A. U. Dr. Peltzer is en route to Chicago, where the demands of the A. A. U. are awaiting him in a letter sent there for him. Unless the meeting is arranged for the Millrose meet, Hahn and Dr. Peltzer may not match strides until the Olympic games at Amsterdam.

SCOTM'DOUGAL ON MAT CARD FOR THURSDAY

With Dick Daviscount now in a Memphis hospital recuperating from an operation for appendicitis it appears that "Scotty" McDougal will continue his reign as villain of the mat unmolested. At least he will have no interference from Daviscount next Thursday night, when he appears in the semi-windup of the card at the city auditorium.

The opponent for McDougal is yet to be selected, but having noted the rough tactics employed by McDougal in his numerous appearances here Contos is searching for a foe.

Contos is firm in the opinion that the wrestling show next Thursday night will be one of the best that he has offered here this season, the main reason for that belief being the fact that Paul Jones is booked for the main event. Jones is the most popular wrestler ever to appear here and has added to his list of admirers on each appearance.

In the Thursday night main event Jones will be pitted against Joe Marvin, an Indian grappler, who is reported to be just as speedy and clever as Jones. Marvin tips the scales at 200 pounds.

ANOTHER UN- SOLICITED TRIBUTE FOR ALL-BRAN

Good news for sufferers from constipation

Mrs. Kiell sat down and wrote us a letter when she had proved ALL-BRAN a safe "sure-cure" for constipation. Read her voluntary tribute:

April 4, 1927
"I have been using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for quite some time and I want to tell you how much I appreciate it. I have found it a sure-cure for constipation, and know it is a remarkable regulator for the stomach. After using it, my family and I certainly will not be without it. I have even gone so far as to send some of it to my mother in Poland, Europe."

Gratefully yours,
Mrs. ANNA KIELL,
77 Wolcott Terrace, Newark, N. J.

Perhaps you know what a terrible affliction constipation is. Blighting wherever it drives. Ruining health. Marrying beauty. Causing headaches, back pains, foul breath, loss of sleep—indeed, leading to more than forty serious diseases.

But did you know it can be easily relieved by a pleasant cereal food? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Serve with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking. At grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The Woman in the Case

BY LOUIS TRACY

INSTALLMENT IX.
A WILD COMMOTION.

So Sheldon took nothing for granted. He knew that Arden shared his view. The two acted as leaders of eight-hour watches during sixteen hours of the day. From midnight to eight in the morning the Hall was closed to all comers, and a strong contingent of police backed up the night watchman who patrolled the interior each half hour.

At last came the news that Mrs. Sinclair and De Braganza had left London for Paris, unobtrusively and by an early train. To most people this fact would have brought relief; to Sheldon, it meant increased vigilance. And he was right. Next afternoon, about 3 o'clock, Arden received a telegram from his friend, Chalmers, whom he had kept posted as to his whereabouts. It was from the Crocodon aerodrome, and read:

"Your friend Arden is dead. I found him this morning. A lady, whom I saw with him at Le Bourget, came in another machine. The two met here and drove into London in a high-powered closed car with a landau body. They got away so quickly that I could not read the number. Of course, if Chalmers had telephoned Scotland Yard he would have saved many hours, and the car, owing to the exact description he could supply, might have been halted and its occupants closely questioned somewhere along the Great North road. But he thought he had served his friend by wiring direct, and in any event no harm was done, because the wide open car which drew up in the high road outside the lodge about a quarter past eight the following evening differed in color, number plates, bonnet, and lamps from that which left Crocodon about thirty hours earlier. MacDonald, it will be remembered, lived there. He went out in response to a summons by the horn.

"Don't open the gate," said a lady who, beyond the chauffeur, seemed to be the sole occupant of the roomy vehicle. "I am not coming in. Will you kindly take this note to Miss Bernore? She is living here, I think?" "I'll inquire, ma'am," said MacDonald, who knew that a policeman and undergarment, hidden among the trees close to the boundary wall, must have signalled already to house and stables that some unknown person was with out. The arranged note was a good one. The people in the hall knew at once that a strange car was waiting near the gate. The watchmen, of course, stood fast. Men with war experience were not likely to reveal their preparations to an apparently harmless scout.

"A lady in a car near the lodge has sent this by MacDonald, miss," he said.

"Esmee!" cried Esme at sight of the handwriting. "It is from Mrs. Sinclair. Tell her—"

"See what she wants first, my dear," interposed Lady Doone. Esme went rapidly through the few words on one side of a sheet of paper.

"May I read this aloud?" she said. "It contains really good news."

The note ran:

"Dearest Esme: I was actually in Paris on my way back to South America—I had to call there, as you know, to collect most of my belongings—when I felt that I really must see you, if only for a few seconds, before we part, probably forever. So, at some inconvenience, I am here. I cannot meet any of your new friends, you understand, don't you? But do come to my car for a word of farewell. With love, yours,

"HELENA SINCLAIR."

"I really must go," said Esme. "I'll take every care, auntie. But MacDonald said that the lady was accompanied by others," she went on, turning to White.

He told her she was alone in an open limousine, with a chauffeur at the wheel, of course.

Esme rose. To the astonishment of the year and his family, all the men got up, too. The girl and her escort left the house by the back way. As they crossed the spacious yard one of their own cars swung down the drive and halted for the gate to be opened. The chauffeur knew exactly what to do. He had to circle slowly around the other car and bring up facing it, as though waiting for some one to come from the Hall. At the least sign of the strange car trying to get away he had to smash into it. If the whole thing were a false alarm the damage could be made good by payment. In any case, the stranger could not escape. Sheldon, too, held a small police whistle between his lips. At one blast there would be a singular awakening of life in the roadway. The man in charge of the blocking car was to switch on two dazzling headlights and three policemen would emerge from their colleague's cottage in the village street.

As it happened, these men were on the alert. They saw the stationary car, and in their zeal brought about a catastrophe, because they were on the scene before their allotted time, cringing in readiness behind the garden wall of a house many yards nearer. Hence they were the first to be aware of two men, creeping stealthily forward from opposite sides of the gate as soon as Esme and the others passed through a wicket in the front of the lodge.

Mrs. Sinclair's driver protested against the position occupied by the other car.

"Hi, there!" he said. "Back a bit, mate. I've got to be off in a minute. Is that you, dear?" cried Mrs. Sinclair, rising from her seat and opening the door.

"Yes," said the girl, quickening her pace, since any sort of personal risk seemed out of the question.

"Look out, miss!" shouted a gruff voice from across the road. One of the reserve force had given tongue!

Instantly the whistle blew and there was a wild commotion. A man who had been doubled up on the floor of the suspected car sprang past Mrs. Sinclair and seized Esme. But she was young and strong, and though taken at a disadvantage had been forewarned, so she resisted vigorously. The head lights blazed up.

Two men dashed forward from right and left in front of Arden and Burke, who were foremost among the rescuers. The sudden glare lit up the scowling face of Juan de Braganza, who, using brutal force, flung Esme violently into Mrs. Sinclair's outstretched hands, and dropped his right hand to the grip of an automatic which had been thrust between waistcoat and shirt. But he hesi-tated. He was not quite sure which of his two nearest assailants was Arden. At that moment a shot rang out, and De Braganza fell. Sheldon, seeing that a short, stubby man who had raced in front of him had a pistol raised, struck the fellow's arm with a life preserver. Evidently, the blow had tightened the would-be assassin's fingers, and the weapon went off, but the bullet lodged in De Braganza's throat. Indeed, being of the expanding variety it nearly tore his head off.

Guido, the Maltese, rolled in agony on the ground, and the matador, that noble bull fighter, decided forthwith to hold up his hands, and yell loudly: "Alla-right! Alla-right!" which was all the English he knew.

The Faradale mystery came to an abrupt end then and there. Of course, the newspapers had a great time, and the home secretary was bombarded with complaints as to the inefficiency of his passport system.

In due process of law Guido was convicted and hanged for murder. The matador just escaped on a legal point, but he was sent to penal servitude for aiding and abetting. The chauffeur proved that he was innocent of any complicity in a criminal act. He was told that the young lady, De Braganza's wife, was being detained against her will, and would come away readily with her husband and friends if given an opportunity. His orders across Yorkshire to Westmoreland, where an empty furnished house in a remote valley had been rented in an assumed name.

Mrs. Sinclair collapsed so completely that she was not indicted. Indeed, she passed some months in a hospital, as she fell from the car and broke an ankle. Esme was miserable for weeks because of it. She could not be persuaded that she had not pulled her old-time friend into the roadway.

Lady Doone valiantly finished her dinner alone.

"One more tombstone to that wretched woman's account," she said when told what had occurred. "What a pity she did not arrange for her own! What! Have her brought in here? No indeed. Isn't there a room in the inn? Better still, take her to the hospital at Stockton."

Within six months Esme's birth-right was established. By that time she and Arden had been married quietly. Mr. Simmonds tried to persuade her to sign the register as Esme de Braganza, and describe herself as a widow, but she scouted the notion, and no one will ever be a penny the worse for the wisdom.

And Burke will not become a brigadier in the free state army, nor will Davidson join an Italian consulate. There was plenty of "cash" available on the Faradale estate. Indeed, Mrs. O'Malley has established herself in a nice house in Aston Park.

The Paris taxi driver was given a new cab. He will never know just how he earned it.

Esme carried it in triumph to her aunt.

"There!" she exclaimed delightedly. "Who dare say now that John married me for my money? And we don't want one-tenth of it. We shall give away nearly all to the very hospitals and universities my poor, unhappy grandfather named in his will."

It is a sad fact that Mrs. Sinclair, when she recovered, demanded five thousand pounds a year for life as the price of her silence. It is almost demoralizing to learn that Mr. Simmonds compromised for fifteen hundred. She actually signed a receipt admitting that the payment was in the nature of blackmail, so that one scandalous word, breathed by her would mean instant arrest.

Mr. Winter was very angry when he heard of the arrangement.

"When it comes to downright nastiness," he growled, biting in his wrath a full half inch off a fresh Havana. "I'll pick a woman every time!" The criminal-minded female has the cold nerve of a brass cat.

"Yes," sighed Furneaux, "it gives one to think furiously. I say, chief, why don't you and I start out to collect? This affair alone is worth a pot of money, while that last business of the princess' rubies."

"Though the thing were a false alarm, the damage could be made good by payment. In any case, the stranger could not escape. Sheldon, too, held a small police whistle between his lips. At one blast there would be a singular awakening of life in the roadway. The man in charge of the blocking car was to switch on two dazzling headlights and three policemen would emerge from their colleague's cottage in the village street."

ITALY STIRRED BY ACTSOF JUGO-SLAVS' ARMY

Rome, January 27.—(AP)—Quoting the text of a purported manifest of instruction for recruits in the Jugo-Slav army, Giornale d'Italia today prints a dispatch from Belgrade with a first page headline asserting that Jugo-Slavia is preparing for war.
The paper quotes the Jugo-Slav Manifest as saying: "Hungarians and Bulgarians, and that recruits must be trained to 'attack' the enemy to liberate his lives still under foreign yoke. The text of the Jugo-Slav Manifest, says the paper, instructs recruits that they must learn to use means not only to cause enemy attack, but also to cause enemy attack. Jugo-Slavia, but also when Jugo-Slavia attacks the enemy to liberate their brethren 'who are still under foreign yoke'."

New Act "Made"Here in Atlanta;
Dodd Sisters Hit

BY ELMO HAMBY.
It's but a step from the chorus to stardom.
And Friday night, right here in Atlanta, the city of stage opportunity for amateurs, two young women, Dorothy and Helen Dodd, who but a short time ago were in the common prosaic every-day life into the ensemble of a show, started on their way to stardom.
They began some 20 weeks ago in Chicago with the Public Unit "Way Out West," playing at the Howard theater this week, and they were merely girls in the chorus. But between weeks, in the hours that may be spent in idle leisure, they were out a good many pair of shoes practicing.
It was a long, hard grind, but Friday night in Atlanta their opportunity came, when Ray Teal summoned forth from the "wings," the Dodd sisters, for the first time on any stage. They dashed out and presented to Atlantans their first view of the "Baltimore" a dance which they originated and which was christened by Mr. Teal.
Quite candidly, they were the hit of the entire bill Friday night, notwithstanding the fact that they were presenting a bit which they had not prepared for a show before. The stand and sedately dignified air of the duo, which they completely upset and everyone rushed to congratulate them.
They have personality, beauty, and are what is known in stage parlance as "willing workers." You'll see them again here, and the next time they'll be the Dodd Sisters, personality dancers—and headliners.

Shakespeare QuizProposal Draws
Shaw's Sarcasm

London, January 27.—(AP)—The suggestion of Lord Sydenham for a reopening of the dispute revolving around the authorship of Shakespeare's plays in the appointment of a committee of three to undertake examination of evidence connecting the playwright with dramas bearing his name, has met with a sarcastic rejoinder from Bernard Shaw.
Shaw, whose name was suggested as being likely material for the proposed committee, said today he would not serve even if the request did reach the National Academy.
"I am not a commissioner in lunacy," he told a representative of the Evening Standard. "For that matter, I have no claim to authority for even the plays I am supposed to have written myself. And what record is there of my having done so?"

ATLANTIC LINERSAGAIN DELAYED

New York, January 27.—(United Press)—Gales on the Atlantic coast lashed the seas and were working havoc with shipping schedules.
Eighteen trans-Atlantic liners during the day, including the New York, the French liner Rochambeau, the Canadian, the American, the Canadian, and the George Washington of the United States line.
New York, January 27.—(United Press)—By unanimous consent, the senate has decided to vote Monday before adjournment on the Jones ship bill. No definite hour was specified in the agreement, but it was specified that no senator could talk longer than five minutes after 5 o'clock Monday.
